We hope you all enjoyed the National and Liberation Day celebrations and are ready to start a new month.

We will be having MAPS testing the 14th-17th.

Spring Break will be the 27th-31st.

Language Arts

In Language Arts we will continue reading the novel "Hotel for Dogs" by Lois Duncan. As we read, we will continue to work on reading comprehension by focusing on making connections, questioning, and determining importance. Students will be required to do some independent reading at home in order to be prepared for class discussions and activities. In addition, we will complete various writing activities and projects connected to the book.

Social Studies

In Social Studies this month we will continue focusing on the great State of Kuwait. We will continue learning about the Kuwaiti family, past and present and then finish up the unit learning about Kuwait’s economic activity in the past and present.

Math

In March, we will begin our Geometry unit. This chapter will focus on understanding that geometric figures can be analyzed and classified based on their properties, such as having parallel sides, perpendicular sides, particular angle measures, and symmetry.

Science

In Science we will continue the unit on "Sound and Light." Please refer to the schedule for the test date.

The next chapter we will be discussing "Heat." Students should be reviewing class notes at home.

Friendly Reminders

- Please make sure to write a note in the agenda if you are planning to check your daughter out of school early.
- Don’t forget to check your child’s agenda each night and continue checking the Thursday folder each week.

We wish you all the best and are looking forward to another wonderful month!
